

Using the AVA Facilities in the Tom ap Rees Lecture Theatre

September 14, 2010

- The digital projector is controlled from the white panel on the wall by the blackboard, just above the light switches.
- Switch the projector on by pressing the button labelled “ON”. The projector will take approx. 35s to warm up during which time the light will flash.
- Select the input by pressing the button labelled “Computer 1”, “Computer 2” or “Video”. Computer 1 is the PC currently standing on the floor, Computer 2 enables you to use a laptop, there is a spare VGA cable for the connection. Video is for the video presentation table.
- When you finish, if there is no-one using the system after you, switch off by pressing the button labelled “OFF”. This button will flash while the projector cools down. During this time it will not be possible to restart the projector.
- There will be no need to touch the controls on the data projector, or to use the remote control handset.
